Report of the Cemetery Committee.

The town at its annual meeting, March 13, 1894, appropriated the sum of $300.00 to be expended in improvements on the Junction cemetery. The committee met for organization at the town office, April 30. J. H. Fitts was chosen chairman, Jeremiah Towle was chosen foreman, and Thomas Leddy was chosen treasurer. It was decided at this meeting to fence the south end and to grade the grounds, driveways and walks of the cemetery.

At a joint meeting of the Selectmen and committee, at the town office, May 26, a plan for laying out the cemetery, including a soldiers' memorial lot, was presented and accepted. Mildred Pease was the first person buried in the new cemetery, on July 3, 1894. The Selectmen and committee on July 17th fixed the price of lots, named the several avenues, and agreed to call the cemetery the Newfields Cemetery.

The committee has expended in fencing and grading the sum of $273.85, and returned to the town treasury the balance of $26.15.

We recommend that the further care and improvement of the cemetery be left to the Selectmen, and that the board be authorized to provide a front fence as contemplated by plans, provided that the expense thereof shall not exceed $300, and that the amount be reimbursed from the sale of lots.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. FITTS,
HARRIET E. SANBORN,

Annual Report of the School Board

OF THE TOWN OF SOUTH NEWMARKET, 1894-5.

The annual school meeting was held in the town hall on March 17, 1894. James W. Robinson was chosen moderator, and George W. Pollard, clerk. Augustus W. Richards was elected a member of the School Board for three years. George W. Pollard was chosen treasurer, and Albert Field, auditor.

ORGANIZATION.

The School Board met for organization March 20, 1894. The following sub-committees were chosen: Augustus W. Richards, on Piscassic school; William H. Conner, on finance and repairs; James H. Fitts, superintendence, text-books and supplies. At this meeting Abbie A. Pease was elected teacher for the Grammar school, R. Althea Todd, for the Intermediate school and Harriet E. Sanborn, for the Primary school. In considering the application of Augustus W. Richards as teacher for the Piscassic school, the following communication was received from Attorney General Eastman.

EXETER, N. H., March 19, 1894.

WILLIAM H. CONNER, ESQ.,

South Newmarket, N. H.

Dear Sir: I do not think that a person can be a member of the School Board and teach a school in town at the same time.

Yours truly,

EDWIN G. EASTMAN.

Thus we were compelled to give up a teacher who began his services as early as 1878, and had gained a high reputation as an educator among us.

At a meeting of the School Board, March 26, 1894, the bonds procured by George W. Pollard as treasurer were voted satisfactory. George W. Stillson was duly appointed truant officer for the school year 1894-5. Mrs. Margaret E. Riley was selected as teacher for the Piscassic school.

TEXT BOOKS.

The text books now in use are Harrington's speller, Franklin readers, Patterson's grammars, Butler's geographies, Robinson's and Wentworth's arithmetics, Duntonian penmanship, Barnes' and Swinton's histories, Meservey's book-keeping, Hutchison's physiology, Hart's rhetoric, Wentworth's algebra, Mowry's civil government, Well's physiology, Allen and Greenough's Latin grammar.

SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS.

The several schools in town began on April 2, 1894. They have continued three terms, amounting to thirty-two weeks each in the Grammar, Intermediate and Primary schools and to thirty-three weeks at Piscassic.

No extra outlay has been incurred in repairing or furnishing the school buildings during the year. The placing of much needed blackboards of slate in the Grammar school has been deferred.

The following letter was received near the beginning of the fall term :

SOUTH NEWMARKET, August 4, 1894.

REV. J. H. FITTS,

Dear Sir: I hereby resign my position as teacher in the Grammar school of the town, to accept a much better position at Farmington, N. H. I am sorry not to give you a longer notice, but my election at Farmington did not occur till Friday. I resign with much regret the pleasant school I have had here and think it very doubtful if I find as good a class of scholars elsewhere. Thanking the School Board for many kindnesses received,

I am

Very truly yours,

ABBIE A. PEASE.

Again we were called to give up a teacher who had done good work in her school and had won the universal good will of pupils and patrons. In about two weeks fourteen applications for the school were received from Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Ontario, Canada. The position was assigned to Elizabeth H. Richards, one of our own scholars.

SCHOOL EVENTS.

Arbor Day, May 9, was observed in accordance with the recommendation of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The scholars at Piscassic cleared up the grounds, planted a flower-bed and held exercises of speaking, reading and recitation. At the Centre the school grounds were cleared up, the shade trees were looked after, and appropriate exercises were held in front of the Grammar school building by the three schools uniting. The exercises consisted of singing, readings, recitations and general class exercises.

May 11, 1894, our teachers attended the Institute held at the Sanborn Seminary, Kingston, under the supervision of State Superintendent Fred Gowing, Esq.

May 30, 1894, was Memorial day, in which the schools at the Centre took a principal part to general satisfaction.

In October, 1894, our teachers made arrangements to attend a course of art lectures at the Robinson Female Seminary in Exeter, and at the same time to continue their schools.

Public Examinations were held at Piscassic on Thursday, June 21, and on Thursday, Dec. 6, 1894. Many visitors were present to listen to creditable exercises in grammar, parsing, analysis, recitation, declamation and dialogues. The school-room was adorned with flowers and evergreen.

The Centre schools held an exhibition in the town hall on Friday, June 22. The event was greatly appreciated by the large audience which filled the hall. The room was finely decorated with flowers, pot-plants and evergreen.

Closing examinations occurred at the Centre, on Friday, December 7. The Primary school gave songs and readings from the chart, the Intermediate scholars recited in history and physiology and presented songs, declamations and recitations, with an essay on Oliver Wendell Holmes and extracts from his writings. The Grammar school furnished interesting and thorough examinations in algebra and the Latin reader.

CONCLUSION.

Our teachers by their skilful management and our pupils by their faithful study, have highly commended themselves to the kindly interest and continued support of friends and patrons. The teacher and scholars in the Intermediate school during the autumn term were afflicted by the prevailing whooping-cough and mumps. All of the schools in the Centre were closed one week sooner than first planned on account of a few cases of diphtheria in the village. Mildred Pease died of consumption, July 1, 1894, at the age of twelve years, and was the first person buried in the new cemetery at the Junction. Her funeral was attended by teacher and pupils. She loved her school and had been present every school-day for four years.

In our present financial embarrassment and the diminishing number of our pupils, it is difficult to forecast what the coming school-year may wisely demand. Let us see to it that our schools do not bear their undue proportion of the reduced town appropriations.
